EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. Receipt is acknowledged of the Amendment filed 05 March 2004.
2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Lao on 11 May 2004 (see PTO-413, paper no. 0504).

The application has been amended as follows:

IN THE CLAIMS

3. Re claim 10: Claim 10 has been canceled without prejudice and/or traverse.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 5-6 are allowed.
5. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Zeitman discloses a parking management communication system having an on-street parking toll arrangement and a parking lot toll arrangement. The parking management system is achieved through a user interface including a public telephone i.e., a wired phone, a mobile phone, a computer terminal connected to a modem or a computer network (not specifically shown). The communication system includes billing apparatus for billing a user for use of the parking and the telephone account of the user is charged for use of the parking facility, such as charging the user's telephone account, e.g., the bill is included user's phone bill. Thus the parking arrangement of the Zeitman is achieved through the mobile phone or a wired phone and allows the parking toll to be included in a user's phone bill. Zeitman further teaches the parking reports in the parking facility having a meter-like device with a sensor, a reader, a processing means, and a communication transceiver by the user using the user interfaces such as a public telephone, a mobile telephone, computer terminal connected to modem or computer network, which obviously teaches that the corresponding parking facility includes a detector, a display, a keypad, a second mobile phone. Wherein the parking arrangement is achieved through the mobile phone or a wired phone and allows the parking toll to be included in a user's phone bill.

Hjelmvik teaches a vehicle parking system used with a mobile telephone. The vehicle parking system includes a pay meter having a keypad that allows the user to input user specific reference. The user connects the parking system with the aid of telephone and the pay meter is activated to accept the payment data of the parking from the user. The system include a database that stores the user's payment data of the parking with the user specific reference, e.g., the mobile telephone number, a personal code (PIN), or the vehicle registration number, which is used to collect the parking charges from the user. When the user connects himself/herself to the system using the number of the telephone, the telephone number is delivered to the server. The user specific reference validates billing of the parking fee on the user's payment data and allows the user to activate the system after validated. Hjelmvik teaches that user specific reference may alternatively be entered via the keyboard.

One of ordinary skill in the art would not have been motivated to modify the teachings of Zeitman and Hjelmvik, alone or in combination with other references, in order to provide the specifics of the claimed parking lot toll arrangement, i.e., a host having a low carrier frequency device, a first digital coder/decoder connected to a mobile phone communication box through a cable, an entrance monitor at the entrance of the parking lot including a first card reader, first display, a first processor, and a voicer, an exit monitor in communication with the host including third processor, display, an infrared detector, a second low frequency deice, and a second digital CODEC, as set forth in the claims.
